SHRIMP COMMODITY UPDATE

The global shrimp market in the first half of 2002 has been characterized by ongoing concern regarding drug residues as well as weak price levels. Chloramphenicol continued to be an issue following the detection of the substance in Asian shrimp samples in Canada and the US. The EU policy of zero tolerance of the drug has reportedly led to a switch by certain Asian suppliers from EU markets to the US with the result that prices in the US market have been under downward pressure since the second half of 2001. The lower prices are stimulating sales in the US with first quarter 2002 imports up 17% in volume terms and are providing the prospect for record volumes for the market in 2002. Japan, in contrast, did not experience any import growth in shrimp in the first of quarter of 2002 with volumes down 2%. The weak Japanese economy is proving to be a constraint on shrimp purchases although initial indications for the second quarter of the year are more positive. In Europe, French imports were up 7% in volume terms but down 10% in value during the first quarter of 2002.

PRODUCTION

Data : p. 78

With total world statistics for 2000 only available in June 2002, one can now confirm that the growth of world shrimp production continued through 2000 with output reaching a record 4.2 million MT. The rate of growth however slowed in 2000 to just 1% compared to over 9% in 1999. This reduced growth rate is largely due to a stabilization in production in China which remains, by far, the world's largest shrimp producer at over 1.2 million tonnes. Of the major shrimp producing countries, the US and Canada recorded the strongest growth rates at over 9% each. Ecuador, suffering from problems with white spot disease, experienced the sharpest decline with production falling by over 50% to 51 000 MT in 2000. In terms of species, black tiger prawn (P. monodon) is the most important, with world production in 2000 at 840 000 MT, up 4% on 1999.

Wild Shrimp

Global shrimp production continues to be dominated by landings of wild shrimp with China easily topping the production table at over 1 million MT. After an increase of almost 80% between 1995 and 1999, Chinese production of wild shrimp declined slightly in 2000.

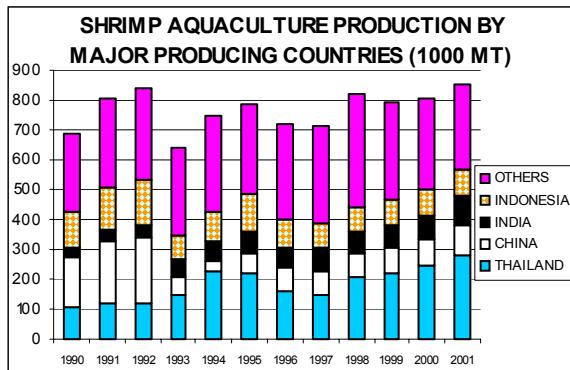

At the same time, India, the second largest producer of wild shrimp, slightly increased its production to 353 000 MT in 2000. Overall world production of wild shrimp is estimated to have remained stable in 2000 following a 10% increase in 1999. EU shrimp production, which is all wild, fell by 6% to 83 000 MT in 2000.

Data : p. 80

Farmed Shrimp

Global aquaculture production of shrimp fluctuated more or less between 700 and 800 000 MT throughout the 1990's. However output is estimated to have increased by 10% in 2001 to over 850 000 MT which is a record level for farmed shrimp production. Thailand remains the top farmed shrimp producer with output for 2001 estimated at 280 000 MT (+ 12%). Farmed production in China, India and Indonesia is also estimated to have increased in 2001 to between 90 000 and 100 000 MT for each country.

Data : p. 73

PROCESSED PRODUCTION

Data : p. 70

Global production of frozen shrimp in 2000 was, at around 1.1 million MT, roughly in line with levels over the previous 5 years. The leading producers remain the US, Thailand and India. At the same time, Indonesia showed one of the fastest growth rates increasing by 16% to 98 000 MT of frozen shrimp in 2000. World production of prepared shrimp products reached a record level of 226 000 MT in 2000. This figure represents an increase of 3% over 1999 and 25% over the 1996 level. As in previous years, Thailand dominates production in this sector, accounting for 55% of output in 2000. In the coldwater shrimp segment, Norway remains the leading producer of prepared shrimp products with 21000 MT in 2000. Greenland's production increased by 17% to almost 14 000 MT.

EXPORTS

2000 was a record year for world shrimp exporters with the level of 1.5 million MT surpassed for the first time. The total volume of exports in 2000 was up almost 8% on 1999 and 19% up on the 1996 level.

Thailand continues to be the number one exporter with volumes just marginally under 250 000 MT in 2000. The biggest increases in shrimp exports however were recorded for Argentina (+63%), Denmark (+51%) and China (+41%). In contrast, Ecuador registered a decline of over 60% in its shrimp exports in 2000. Despite a sharp decline in shrimp exports in 1999, Indonesia confirmed its position as the world's second largest exporter in value terms in 2000 with sales of just under US$ 950 million (105 000 MT).

Data : p. 59

In line with the upward trend in total world shrimp exports, global export sales of prepared shrimp products increased by 13% in 2000 to over 270 000 MT. Thailand, the world's leading producer of processed shrimp, maintained its steady growth record passing the 100 000 MT level for the first time in 1999 and increasing by 3% in 2000 to 104 000 MT. In value terms, Thai processed exports passed the $1 billion mark for the first time in 1999 and increased by 15% to US$1.2 billion in 2000. Canada, however, provided the strongest growth in processed shrimp exports with volume sales jumping by over 150% to 16 000 MT between 1998 and 2000.

IMPORTS

Global shrimp imports, mirroring the movement in global exports, reached record levels in 2000, passed the 1.5 million MT level for the first time. The world's largest shrimp market, the US, absorbed over 20% of this amount. US shrimp imports have been increasing since 1997 and volumes imported in 2000 confirmed this trend, increasing by 4% over 1999, to a record 346,000 MT. This volume was surpassed in 2001 when US imports exceeded 400 000 MT for the first time. Recent trends in shrimp imports for Japan, the world's second largest market, have been more uneven, fluctuating between 267 000 and 319 000 MT during the 1990's.

Imports for 2000, at 283 000 MT, represented a 2% increase on 1999. For the EU, imports from non EU countries reached a record 378 000 MT in 2000, an increase of 9% on the previous year. Within the EU market itself, Spain remains the most important importer in both volume and value terms. The country experienced one of the strongest growth rates in 2000, with imports jumping by over 20% to 115 000 MT.

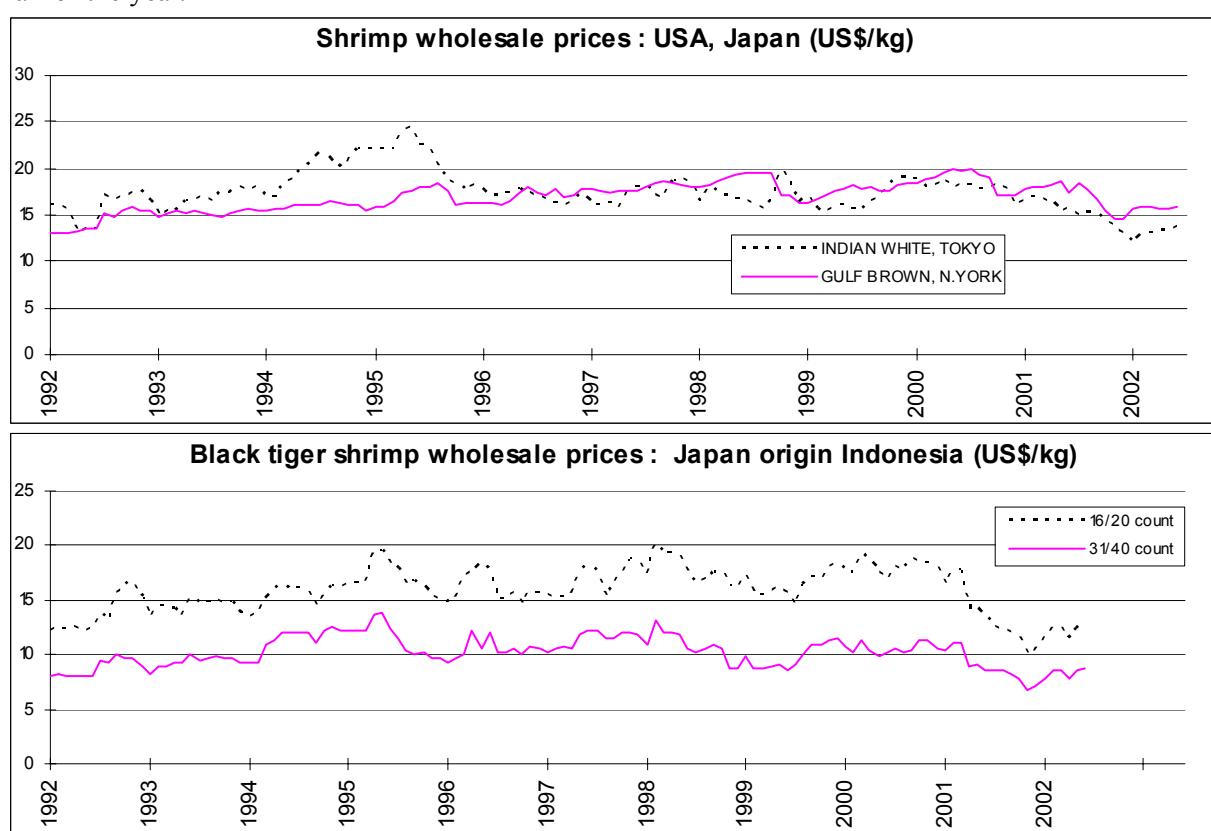

Data : p. 30

PRICES

The strength of the US economy in 2000 helped to support shrimp prices despite a relatively buoyant supply situation. This situation changed, particularly during the second half of 2001, as the US economy slowed and supplies maintained an upward trend. The weak price position in world shrimp markets during 2001 continued into the first half of 2002 with no obvious prospect of improvement for the second half of the year.

Ex warehouse prices for black tiger shrimps in both the US and Japan were down between 20 and 30% at the beginning of 2002 compared with the same period in 2001. Market indications at the end of the first half of 2002 point to increased demand as a result of lower prices. However, the prospect of increasing supplies during the second half of 2002 as well as the potentially negative impact of the drug residue issue on US demand, are likely to prevent any return to 2000/ 2001 price levels. A key issue at the end of first half of 2002 is the likely movement in the dollar rate during the coming months. In 2000, the US confirmed its position, which it assumed in 1998, as the leading importer of shrimp in both volume and value terms. The US market purchased imports worth over $3.8 billion, an increase of 19% on 1999. Japan, in second position, also increased the value of its imports with an increase of 12% to $3.2 billion. Spanish shrimp imports in 2000 were worth $768 million, an increase of just under 30% on the 1999 level. During 2000, Ecuador lost its leading position as supplier of frozen shrimps to the EU with a decline on 1999 volumes of 63% to almost 11,000 MT. Greenland replaced Ecuador as the EU's leading supplier with sales of frozen shrimp of almost 29,000 MT. However, Argentina registered one of the strongest growth rates, with sales to the EU increasing by 82% to over 26,000 MT. Argentina became the second most important supplier of frozen shrimp to the EU in 2000.
